"The future of any organisation, be it religious or secular, depends to a large extent on the quality of its leadership.

Successful organisations are the ones that are constantly investing in leadership training and development, not only of those in position but also those they recruit.

As a church, we are engaged in this process for it is the key to securing the future of our work here in the UK. The courses on offer at the Leadership Training Centre are expertly designed to bring out the best in the students and I strongly recommend them to you."

Dr Eric A Brown FRSA Administrative Bishop

The View of four Course Participants

" I recognised that where I was timid and lacked confidence in the past, by God's grace I can confidently say through the CIMS Courses, my eyes have been opened to a whole new world of purpose and possibilities. The training and teaching have allowed me to move away from the comfort zone I once embraced. My perspective of ministry has changed dramatically. My assistance to the local Pastor in the area of Bible Studies has been greatly improved."

Cathy Flowers
Certificate in Ministerial Studies (CIMS)

I thoroughly enjoyed the CAMS course. The course material was informative, enriching, challenging, practical and relevant. Elements of the course material have been utilised at my local Church and the resources are still serving as reference points in helping us to shape the variety of outreach ministries we offer to our community.

Chris Lindo
Calling and Ministry Studies (CAMS)

I have enjoyed and have been challenged by the MIP programme. Learning from experienced tutors and networking with other ministers was particularly useful and provided valuable insights into how I can best serve the local congregation I currently pastor.

Rev Jacqueline Newsome
Ministerial Internship Programme (MIP)

To progress to the rank of Ordained Bishop I had to undertake the course Leading With Integrity. Being my first encounter with the Leadership Training Centre as a student I found the staff were supportive and helpful. The course was informative and the material educational and challenging. Each rank of the ministry brings its own responsibilities and the course content assisted in preparing me for the transition enabling me to evaluate my ministry and providing a firm foundation for future growth. I enjoyed the course and know that my ministry has benefited from undertaking it.'
